Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Tuesday 06 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Cold with clear spells tonight. Sunshine and showers for Wednesday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Scattered wintry showers will gradually ease during the evening, leaving clear skies for all. The lack of cloud will allow the temperature to drop with widespread frost forming. Winds easing. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Wednesday:
Largely dry with sunny spells through the morning, cloud building at times with isolated wintry showers in western areas. Mostly cloudy overnight, outbreaks of rain in the west. Remaining cold. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Bright spells with scattered showers on Thursday, milder than recently. Often cloudy on Friday with occasional rain, although turning drier later. Brighter Saturday but with scattered wintry showers. Remaining cold.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.